Here and There

A NEW DAY ?

Before long, whatever this means, the experts are promising that man will be using atomic energy. What they promise is amazing.

First they predict that atomic energy plants will be built producing energy at a cost far below that of electricity. At the present time power costs far more for transmission than production. This is why electricity is not much cheaper than coal produced power. Atomic energy will not depend on water falls nor coal for its production. It can be produced near the consumer. If this can be done, after removing some technical difficulties, mankind is for the first time in history in a position to do anything that mechanical energy permits. It will revolutionize every thing that man does. They see a greater revolution in the world than that brought about by the steam engine.

Power is needed all over the world. Today millions of men could accomplish infinitely more with controlled power. It will not reduce man's need to work, but it will allow him to do much more and therefore to have a higher standard of living. As long as men depend on physical work alone, living standards cannot be too high.

Atomic power would make possible successful living in what is now undeveloped and sparsely populated territory. Nuclear power would offer industry to areas now largely barren for lack of coal, oil or electricity. Such a source of power would put United States at a disadvantage where her immense sources of power now give her a great lead.

What the effects of such power would have on countries where industries are few and promising.

At the present time the radiation emanating from nuclear fission are deadly but experts think that new methods may be discovered which will not give off the deadly radiation. Other sources of energy may be found which would produce an atomic fuel so light and concentrated that it could be used in the smallest power plant. All this opens up a vast field of speculation. Atomic energy will be generated, and this in the near future. If it fulfills the expectations of the scientists we are entering a new era.

In the Calgary Herald Road Race run on Thanksgiving Day in Calgary Nick Lapchuk of Edmonton placed first in the 6.147 mile run with a time of 35 minutes 22 1/5 seconds.

Raymond's entry, Rudy Ardinaert placed sixth. This is Rudy's first try at the six mile race and he did very well in as much as he had the misfortune of being slightly under the weather at the beginning of the race.

The LADIES AID

will hold a TEA and SALE in the UNITED CHURCH, Saturday NOVEMBER 2nd, 3 to 7 p.m.

Admission 25c—Everybody welcome

Impossible to overlook was the mistake of the Lethbridge Herald last Tuesday in the picture they run of the dragline of Henry Berger and Sons working on Raymond's new Sewer Project. It caused a good deal of conjecture as to how it could happen and also a good deal of merriment among the citizens of Raymond. We wonder how the Mayor and his Councilmen came by their black faces.

The copy accompanying the picture was of the sewer project but the picture was a fine one of a few head of sheep. The Recorder makes mistakes too.

STIRLING NEWS NOTES

Excitement ran high all last week at the H.S. School, the occasion being the nomination campaigning and election of officers of the Student's Union. After the votes were cast and counted the result was found to be as follows: Douglas Christensen as President, Melvin Spackman, Vice President; Ludene Seely, Activity Director and Larry Oler as Secretary Treasurer. This should make an up and coming executive for the current years activity.

Never before have the kids of this village experienced such thrills as they have the past three days. Tommy McCrae and Floyd Myers of Calgary brought their "Piper Cub" plane here and took passengers for short flights. A great many of the younger set took advantage of the opportunity to enjoy the thrill of an air ride.

Mrs. and Mr. Stan Glover and Mrs. and Mr. Dale Spackman of Calgary visited friends in town on Sunday.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers organization was held Monday evening in the school hall, with President Rozina Mertz as chairman. An interesting program was given by the school children after which a new corps of officers was chosen for the current year. Mrs. G.N. Wells was elected president with Mrs. Elva Michelson as Vice-President and Miss E. Egeland as Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leavitt of Taber.

BACKACHE The Plague of Outdoor Men

The outdoor man, whether he be farmer, truck driver, or railway operator, is often subject to backache. This may be the result of exposure to cold and dampness or the result of strain from the jolting and bumping of the vehicle he rides.

To many people, women as well as men, it would be great to be free of backache—one of the most common and annoying of ailments. And here is how you may be relieved of backache and other symptoms of poisons in the blood.

The treatment suggested is Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. By reason of their stimulating action on both the liver and kidneys, you have two chances to one of getting relief from your backache by using Dr. Chase's Pills. The torpid liver is aroused to action, the kidneys are stimulated and consequently these organs help to purify the blood of the poisonous impurities which bring pains and aches and tired feelings.

Keep regular and keep well by using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. 35c a box.

Canada's Forest Wealth

CANADA WAS ONE of the few fortunate countries which emerged from the war with material resources undamaged by bombs or other weapons of devastation. Consequently, in company with the United States and the South American countries, we have endeavored to contribute as much material as possible to those nations whose fields and factories were damaged or destroyed during the war. Food has been probably our most important export and much emphasis has been placed on the need for Canadian wheat and other food products abroad. Food is undoubtedly of the greatest importance there at the present time, but we are sometimes reminded that they have also a housing problem, much more grave than that which we face here, because of the fact that many thousands of their pre-war homes were partially or totally destroyed.

World Shortage Is Predicted

The task of reconstruction is an enormous one, not only from the point of view of housing, but in the rebuilding of railroads and other essential facilities. Much of this reconstruction will depend on an adequate supply of lumber, as do the building programmes now being commenced on this continent. However, a study of the world lumber supply, made during the past year by the United Nations' Food and Agriculture Organization, has shown that there is a serious shortage which will be felt soon. It has been found that Europe, the Middle East and the Far East have emerged from the war with greatly depleted lumber supplies, while in the United States lumber stocks have reached an all-time low. Britain's situation in this respect is described as even more serious. Canada on the other hand was found to be one of the few countries whose forestry is "in fair condition."

Production To Be Increased

Reasons for the shortage were given by Sir John Boyd Orr, F.A.O., director-general, as "deforestation, inadequate forest management, failure to develop mature forests, incomplete utilization and insufficient technical personnel." It must also be recognized that during the war the need for wood increased greatly and many more trees were cut than would be the case in normal times. Attention is now being directed to increasing the production of Canadian forests. In this connection the F.A.O. report says: "Large programs of work on Canadian forest improvement and rehabilitation projects are now being started. These are expected to lay the ground work for more orderly management and better projection of the forests in future; at the same time they should provide useful employment for large numbers of people during the period of transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy." From this report, it appears that the lumbering industry may become increasingly important both to Canada and to those countries who will look to her for supplies of this essential product.

Study For Scientists

Giant Spider Found In Buddhist Temple Has Human-Like Face

The newspaper Hsin Sheng Pao said that a spider with a human-like face and as big as an apple, although it was just hatched, had been found in a Buddhist temple near Peiping.

The spider, said Hsin Sheng Pao, has a white face with eyebrows, a nose and a mouth. The rest of it is black and it has eight legs. A priest found the spider in a pear tree and put it in a jar so scientists could study it.

BIRD NOW EXTINCT

Less than 100 years ago the passenger pigeon was the most prevalent bird in all North America. The last specimen died in the Cincinnati zoo on Sept. 1, 1914, and is now mounted in the Smithsonian Institution.

There is always an even number of rows of kernels on a normal ear of corn.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—I am holding some temporary ration coupons with a "Beaver" stamped on them. Are these "Beaver" coupons still valid for the purchase of rationed commodities?

A.—Consumers holding unused "Beaver" coupons may, on application to a Local Ration Board, have them exchanged for the newly-issued "Buffalo" coupons. The "Beaver" coupons, unnumbered and bearing a beaver design, which are used for the purchase of meat, sugar, preserves and butter, expire on October 31. "Beaver" coupons for evaporated milk, only, will continue to be valid.

Q.—I believe that some meat and butter coupons are being declared invalid the end of October. Will you list for me the coupons which will no longer be used after October 31.

A.—Meat coupons Q-1 to Q-4 in the No. 5 ration book and M-51 to M-55 in the new book, and butter coupons R-18 to R-21 in the old book and B-26 to B-28 in the new, will become invalid for the purchase of these commodities after October 31.

Q.—Have hairnets been removed from the price ceiling regulations? The other day I was able to purchase a hairnet and noticed that the price had gone up several cents.

A.—Hairnets are still under the ceiling, but the subsidy on imported hairnets has been removed and the price has therefore increased.

Q.—Has the price of turkeys grade "A" been increased?

A.—The Prices Board has announced that effective September 3 maximum wholesale prices for Grade "A" turkeys in all parts of Canada will be 2½ cents a pound higher than those in effect during the 1945 packing period—November and December. These prices will apply throughout the year.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

SMILE AWHILE

One of the guests at a negro wedding approached a man who was very well dressed and who appeared somewhat depressed. "Pardon sir," asked the guest, "but is you de groom?" "Na suh, I ain't," replied the man with a sorrowful look, "I was eliminated in de semi-finals."

Two Irishmen were trying to remove a piece of rock lying in the roadway when an old lady passing stopped and watched them. Then she said: "Men, why not try blasting it?"

One of the men looked up and said: "Lady, we have tried every swear word we know, and yet we cannot move it."

"Don't you think a man has more sense after he's married?" "Yes, but it doesn't do him any good then."

The visitor watched a very little girl pull a very big weed from her garden. "You must be pretty strong to pull out such a big weed," he remarked.

"Yes," agreed the youngster, "and don't forget the whole world was pulling on the other side."

Wife (inspecting new home): "How many closets are there, dear?" Husband: "I've counted five."

"That isn't enough. You'll want one for your things, won't you?"

The beautiful young widow simply wouldn't be comforted after two days' mourning although scores offered sympathy plus advice.

Finally the beautiful young widow found voice: "I'm not grievin' 'bout myself," she said. "It's these seven children I feel sorry for—havin' to be reared by a step-daddy."

"What is a debtor?" "A man who owes money." "And what is a creditor?" "A man who thinks he's going to get it back."

"Why, sometimes I'm taken for my own daughter." "Nonsense! You don't look old enough to have a daughter so old."

Race Track Cameras Are Becoming A Commonplace Thing At Races

The camera, in racing, like the automobile in everyday life, apparently is here to stay.

It's a far cry from the days when the decision was left entirely to the vision of the placing judges. Back in 1926 a total of seven dead heats, all for win, was the highest from 1910 through 1934. A dead heat for any of the other placings was unheard of in those years. No less than five different years there was only a single dead heat signal flashed at all tracks and it made page one whenever it happened. All of which tends to prove the keenest pair of eyes can't compete with the camera.

The amount of money lost by bettors from 1910 up until the first camera made its appearance in 1935 staggers the imagination. Horsemen, too, were losers. Instead of sharing in first money, or for any of the other positions as now, they received the next lesser amount, when it was up to the judges.

The camera finish has become as commonplace as the starting gate. Next on the list of mechanical aids for the tracks is the camera which takes a picture of every inch of the race. It helps the stewards. After viewing the film, they can make their decisions.

Recipe For Longevity Are The Secret For Long Life

OTTAWA. — Every nonegenarian has his own secret of long life, and with Sgt. Daniel Byrd Hoskins Power, 93-year-old veteran of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston, it's water.

The Company — oldest military organization on the continent — celebrated its annual convention in Ottawa recently.

The erect, sprightly, oldest member of this oldest Company, who makes a point of doing everything his fellow-members do, says water — and eggs — are the secret of long life.

"It's easy," he told newspapermen. "I just drink lots of water. I have hot water in the morning, cold water at noon, and hot water before I go to bed at night. Water is nature's own medicine. It beats anything the doctors have and works wonders."

HELPING SHORTAGE

Aluminum nails, up to four inches in length, now are being produced to help in the nail shortage. Contrary to what one would expect, they are said to have greater shearing strength than steel nails. Furthermore, they're much easier to carry. A keg of aluminum nails weigh only about 34 pounds in comparison with the 130-pound keg of steel nails. And there is not much difference in cost.

CRITICAL POULTRY RATION SUPPLEMENTS

Where has the beef scrap gone? This is the 64-dollar question being asked almost every day by poultrymen in Alberta. Beef scrap, fish meal, and many other supplements are in very short supply and it becomes more important than ever to utilize most efficiently those feeds that are available.

Many producers, particularly those with the smaller flocks, can balance the ration for their birds by using the products that they have on hand or can obtain. Skim milk can supply the greatest part of the protein requirement of laying birds if it is fed in unlimited amounts. The birds should be given all the milk they want and then if green feed and minerals are added to the ration a very high level of production can be maintained. Skim milk may be fed either sweet or sour but it should always be fed in the same condition.

In areas where alfalfa is raised selected high quality alfalfa hay should be used to supplement the ration. Only very leafy green hay should be used and if this is fed to make up not more than 10 per cent of the ration it will not cause any drop in egg quality. The hay will provide supplements of protein, mineral, and vitamins. It can be fed either whole, in which case it is put in racks or simply placed on the floor of the house, or it can be ground into meal and mixed with the mash. Commercial alfalfa meal can be used provided that it is made from high quality alfalfa but it is better to use the fresh home grown product if this is available.

In order to obtain maximum production and strong shells it is necessary that minerals be supplied to the birds. The essential minerals include sodium, calcium, and phosphorus. Sodium is supplied in common salt and the calcium and phosphorus are contained in bone meal and mono-calcium phosphate. Ground limestone and oyster shell provide calcium only but are very essential in maintaining egg shell quality.

Vitamins A and D are essential for maintaining the bird's good health and vitamin D is involved in deposition of minerals in the shell. These vitamins are contained in fish oil and oil should be added to all rations for laying birds. Care should be taken to purchase only a high grade of standardized fish oil. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on this particular point. Likewise care must be taken in the storage of the oil as improper handling will lead to very rapid deterioration and loss of vitamin A.

Despite the shortage of supplements on which poultrymen have been depending it is possible by the efficient use of feeds that are available to maintain satisfactory egg production in a flock. A little more planning may be required and for those who may be interested in further information on proper poultry feeding publications are available at the Experimental Station, Lethbridge.

Teachers On The Spot

Children Permitted To Make Reports Of Their Teachers

LONDON.—Children at a Hampstead borough school in London have realized a dream long cherished by school children throughout the world—they are permitted to make end-of-term reports on their teachers.

Their reports are fully considered and acted upon by British school authorities.

Scholars and teachers in this school are known by their Christian names and there is no "Sir" or "Miss". If several pupils complain in their reports that "John gives too much dictation," the instructor is asked to improve his lessons.

The school is Burgess Hill. There is no headmaster. Responsibilities are shared and all staff teachers, cooks, housekeepers and cleaners are paid same salary, approximately $480 a year.

Naturally, the teachers make term-end reports on the children, but it is hard to know who learns the most from whom—the teachers or the children.

The three R's are compulsory, but otherwise children choose their own lessons.

Changed Quickly

The Second World War Made Big Difference To South Sea Islanders

CINCINNATI.—That South Sea island paradise of the nineteenth-century romanticists is gone, says Dr. John Wesley Coulter, University of Cincinnati professor of geography and authority on the Pacific Islands.

Sweeping changes brought about by World War II in the American geographical Society's Geographical Review.

Although South Sea islanders have been influenced by Europeans and Americans for 150 years, the recent war in five years changed them more than in all time before, he points out.

"Whole villages were removed to make way for airplane fields and hangars," Dr. Coulter writes. "The economic life of the natives was transformed by an unprecedented influx of money which GIs generously paid out for souvenirs, laundry, and coconuts."

"Thousands of natives were recruited for labor battalions and received wages far above anything they had ever earned before. Natives trained as commandoes will not be content to fit themselves into the composure of village life under chiefs who stayed at home."

SEES FOR FIRST TIME

CHICAGO.—A dream came true for a 14-year-old Artesian, S.D., farm girl.

The child, Bettie Goudy, has been blind since birth. Now she is able to see—only a little, but it was still seeing.

Bettie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Goudy, brought the girl here for an operation. A cornea from a stillborn baby was transplanted to her right eyeball by Dr. Richard Per-ritt.

There has been little, if any, improvement in violin making in 300 years.

Democracy In Arctic

Greenland Wants To Have Governor And Council Elected By People

An independent democracy is in the making beyond the Arctic Circle, says the Scandinavian News.

Greenland, the world's largest island in which less than 20,000 persons live along the coastline of a territory which comprises nearly 850,000 square miles and Denmark's only remaining colony, is approaching the age of majority.

The Greenlanders now want to have only one governor and one central council to be elected directly by the people. This would have the effect of diminishing influence of the Danish officials.

SALES MUCH HIGHER

Canadians Spent More Of Wintertime Savings During August This Year

Thrifty housewives, who saved their pin money during the war, spent a lot of it last August on radios and household goods, a report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has disclosed.

An analysis of department store sales in Canada during that month showed a 24 per cent. rise over July, and a 27 per cent. increase compared with the corresponding month last year.

Radios, musical instruments and supplies led all departments with an increase of 195 per cent. over August, 1945. Sales of household appliances and electrical supplies were nearly 96 per cent. higher; hardware and kitchen utensils, 39 per cent.; furniture and home furnishings, 34.5 and 33 per cent. respectively.

Rural housewives, too, went shopping during August, the report showed. However, those in Western Canada spent more money than the Easterners.

In country general stores the margin of increase in sales was somewhat wider in Western than in Eastern Canada. In Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia the increases were more than 20 per cent. Manitoba stores had a sales gain of 17 per cent.

Sales in Ontario's country general stores were 19 per cent. higher. Quebec and the Maritime Provinces marked gains of 14 and 15 per cent. respectively.

NATIONAL PARK

The foresight of the Government of Canada in setting aside national park areas has proved very effective in conserving the wild life of this country. A notable example is the saving of the buffalo from possible extinction.

In the early sixties it is claimed there were millions of bison, or buffalo, roaming the plains of North America. Some thirty years later, because of the relentless slaughter for profit, for sport, or simply for the lust of killing, buffalo had become quite scarce. The story of the saving of this magnificent species is closely bound up with the establishment of Canada's national park system. Today there are 26 national parks covering an area of approximately 29,600 square miles and all are wild life sanctuaries. One of the smallest "Elk Island National Park" in central Alberta, measuring 52 square miles, is frequently referred to as "the new home of the buffalo".

Elk Island Park was set aside in 1906 to preserve the wapiti, or elk, which was fast disappearing. Later the Canadian authorities decided to move the herd temporarily established at Elk Island to a fenced reserve at Wainwright, Alberta. Some forty animals were so wild that they could not be captured. Descendants of that small but vigorous group now comprise one of the finest and healthiest herds on the North American continent. Under the sanctuary conditions provided, other big game species such as elk, mule deer and moose share this ideal range with the former "Monarch of the Plains".

Bird life is very abundant in the park, which is one of the most important sanctuaries in the west. A spectacular sight in autumn is afforded by thousands of birds preparing to migrate south for the winter.

It was only to be expected that a natural museum of big game animals such as this would become an important tourist attraction. In recent years Elk Island has developed into a favourite summer playground. Facilities for the enjoyment of sports are numerous and varied. The recreational centre of the park is at Sandy Beach, located on Astotin Lake. Sandy Beach is a long stretch of fine clean sand which affords excellent opportunities for swimming. Amusements such as swings and seesaws are provided for children. In the immediate vicinity of the beach may be found an area suitable for baseball, softball, horseshoe pitching and other forms of outdoor recreation.

Smallest of all national park golf courses but certainly not least in popularity is the nine-hole lay-out on a rolling plateau southeast of Astotin Lake. Small ponds are interesting hazards on this course and fine views may be had of Astotin Lake, the rolling plateau and Beaver Hills from the fairways. Buffalo, elk moose and mule deer may be seen in their native surroundings.

One of the most popular recreations in the park is boating. Canoes and other water craft may be rented from a boat livery which operates during the summer season. A beautiful grove facing the lake, equipped with a large number of tables, benches and other conveniences is a favourite spot for picnickers.

Although there is no hotel or bungalow accommodation in the park many visitors during the summer season brought along their own camping equipment and lived out of doors. A public campground on the eastern side of Astotin Lake, near the boat livery, is well equipped with kitchen shelters, stoves, tables and benches and has firewood, fuel, and other conveniences.

Autumn is one of the most attractive periods in which to visit this forested area. It is accessible either by motor road or railway. The road runs right through the park from north to south and connects with the main provincial highway system. It is approximately one hour's ride from Edmonton.

Elk Island has become a very important link in the chain of Canada's national park system. Not only is it helping to conserve wildlife but should continue to attract visitors in increasing numbers. During August of this year the number of visitors entering the park was more than double that of the same period last year. Many of them are able to adorn their trip with a number of interesting

"MY WEEK"

by R. J. Deachman

Did you miss me? I have been sick. By the way I have a right to be sick if I want to be. Between the years 1905 and 1946 I had only one professional call from a doctor, that was in Calgary back there in 1919 and 1920 at the time of the fine epidemic. Then the other day I went to a hospital for ten days. A hospital is a very comfortable place when you are sick, the service is excellent, the meals are good, but I don't want to stay there ten minutes after I get better. It is a place for the sick not for the well. Let me emphasize it again it is an excellent place to go when you get sick.

I read this paragraph the other day:

"Despite the fertility of the Nile soil, the average annual income of the Egyptian agriculturist is only 20 pounds, as compared with 25 pounds for a Palestinian Arab and 50 pounds for a Palestine Jew."

That is an extraordinary comparison. The Jews have never been farmers in this country, at least not to any marked extent but they have made a success of agriculture in Palestine, a marked success. The difference between the Jews and the Egyptians is that for some reason or other the Egyptians do not like to work, and only work faithfully performed can give a high income to agriculture in any country in the world.

Speaking of these foreign countries reminds me of something. I was talking to a man who served in India during the last war. They employed a number of hindoos in varying capacities. He told me this curious thing. They would have a man do clerical work of some kind and having finished up the work in one place would be moving on to another place perhaps about a hundred miles away or let us say as far as from Red Deer to Calgary or Calgary to Lethbridge. They would want this man to go on with them and to encourage him would offer him $2. or $3. more, which is quite an item in a country like India but he would answer "no". They would point out the advantages of the higher pay but this would have no appeal to him. When asked to give his reason he would say "I was born here."

Now this is one of the many distinctions between the average Canadian and the Hindoo. A Canadian, especially a young man, would move any place over this country if he thought he could improve his position but these people are willing to stay at one point and to remain there all their lives because their fathers lived there before them. They would even starve and let their families starve rather than move.

Some of the Hindoos use rice, some eat wheat, but the ones who use the one won't eat the other. We may have our preference in regard to food but we are willing to eat almost anything that is edible, at least we would not likely go hungry merely because we could not find wheat if rice or oats or some other grain happened to be abundant.

Bruce Hutchison, one of our most brilliant writers slipped a cog and went wrong the other day in an article in the "News Herald" of Vancouver. He started by counting up his many hours of leisure a man would have if he worked only 40 hours a week and reached the astounding conclusion, right of course, that he would have 277 days per annum for rest and recreation. Then he began to draw conclusions. I give you his final paragraph:

"Out of millions of leisurely men will arise countless Shakespeares, Homers will sing in Canadian cottages, a new Socrates will button-hole strangers at the corner of Granville and Hastings to talk of life, another Plato will stroll by the banks of the Fraser River, Aristotles by the dozen will study the fish and insects of Lake Winnipeg, the public will be rocked by controversy over the latest football match, and the golden age of Pericles will arise again in every city of the land. Time, the ancient enemy, has been mastered by the machine. Now we have only to master it in our minds."

It is a beautiful story. Now how do we get that way. The hours of work have been steadily decreasing since industry first started in America. As the United States full of Shakespeares or is it troubled with its Wallaces and Bertie McCormicks. Does an American Socrates drop an occasional word of advice to President Truman. We hope not. Will there be any chance to pick up a couple of gold eyes from the Aristotles who are to spend their time studying the fish and insects of Lake Winnipeg—or will the Aristotles pick up too many mosquitoes? What are the chances of studying Pericles instead of going to the latest movie. Oh "Bruce" my boy hours of added leisure will not make us happy. It will give us more time to loaf and beer and curse the government. It may even teach us how to cut in on the other fellow. Churchill and Roosevelt.

even are men who knew how to use time, but man does not reach greatness because he has leisure, he becomes great because he knows how to work and that is one of the gifts idleness will not bring—it will not teach us how to work.

"The time has come,"
the walrus said,

"To talk of many things:

Of shoes—and ships—

and sealing wax—

Industry Has Ambitious Plan For This Year

OTTAWA.—Canadian businessmen plan to spend $1,170,000,000 this year on new construction, machinery and on repairs and maintenance, the reconstruction department disclosed in a review of the investment intentions of Canadian industry.

The report, based on results of a survey which obtained estimates from 13,430 business establishments of the expenditures they expected to make during 1946 on capital goods, repairs and maintenance, supplements a previous review issued last June.

It listed the following amounts, by industries, which business enterprise plans to spend on new physical durable assets and on repairs and maintenance: manufacturing, $543,000,000; mining, $42,000,000; woods operations, $13,000,000; banking, $5,000,000; public utilities (including central electric stations, telephones, air, water, rail and motor transportation), $567,000,000.

Of the $1,170,000,000 total, 25 per cent. was to be spent on new construction, 33 per cent. on purchase of new machinery and equipment, 16 per cent. on repair of buildings and other structures and 26 per cent. on repair of machinery and equipment.

Of the total planned expenditure of $543,000,000 in manufacturing, more than one-half or 53.5 per cent. of the outlay was to be made in Ontario, 8.5 per cent. in British Columbia and five per cent. in the prairie provinces.

Examination of these expenditures according to major industrial cities showed Vancouver fourth in the list with an outlay of $18,000,000 and Winnipeg fifth with $8,000,000.

However, with respect to investment plans indicated by the survey, the department expects that as a result of shortages resulting from reconversion difficulties and from strikes, the actual realization will fall considerably short of original intentions.

TROOP REMOVAL

Premier Of New Indian Government Demands Withdrawal Of British

LONDON.—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, premier of the new Indian government, has demanded immediate withdrawal of British troops from India, an exchange telegraph agency dispatch from New Delhi reported.

"It was our policy before taking office and it is our policy now to have British troops withdrawn from India immediately or, at any rate, with the greatest possible speed," Nehru said in an official statement.

Nehru said he was issuing the statement in connection with Earl Winterton's question at the Conservative party conference at Blackpool: "Why is Pandit Nehru silent?"

OUTSTANDING GAIN

Shown In Report Covering Grain Crop Harvested In Europe

WASHINGTON.—The world's wheat crop in 1946 is likely to approximate 5,900,000,000 bushels, the largest since 1940, the United States department of agriculture reported.

A crop of that size, however, will be slightly below the 1935-39 average. The report said the most outstanding gain over last year's crop "is noted in the European total now placed at 1,360,000,000 bushels larger than in 1945." The British Isles, which have suffered bad weather, were the only exception noted in the European crop improvement.

WILL HELP SOME

WASHINGTON.—The government banned the construction of swimming pools, board walks, roller-skating, drive-in theatres, parking lots, cement tennis courts, and walls and fences of wood, brick or concrete when any of these projects costs more than $200, as a move to aid the housing program.

BEST TEST SITE

CANBERRA.—Britain's proposed rocket-testing site in central Australia is the only one in the world which would give such long firing ranges, a government official said. In certain directions a distance of 3,000 miles can be obtained. Observation posts would be constructed at intervals of 100 miles in the remote and sparsely populated site.

SERVICES HELD

STEPHENVILLE, Nfld.—Burial services for the 39 victims of the crash of an American overseas airlines plane were held with Protestant, Catholic and Jewish clergymen conducting communal services while flying over the scene of the wreck on Hiale Hills, 10 miles from this southwestern Newfoundland village.

BACK IN OTTAWA

OTTAWA.—Viscount Alexander, Governor-General, and Viscountess Alexander have returned to government house after visiting the Maritimes, Toronto and Montreal. At Montreal, Viscount Alexander saw his first Canadian football game, watching McGill defeat Queen's 18-12 in an intercollegiate match.

POWER PROGRAM

National Farmers Union In Britain Seek Approval Of Scheme For Electrification

LONDON.—The National Farmers Union, major organization of British farmers, will seek approval of a £72,000,000 ($218,000,000) program of rural electrification to help keep present workers on the land and attract new ones.

The N.F.U. blamed poor response to a government training scheme for new farmers on rural housing conditions.

The proposed five-year program would carry electricity to 150,000 holdings and its completion will mean the majority of farms will have electricity.

"It is the experience of thousands of farmers that unless they can offer to potential employees the amenities that are today taken for granted in urban centres of population (and which are completely non-existent in large areas of the countryside) they cannot obtain or retain the type of labor which the industry requires," said the N.F.U. statement.

BUYING SHIPS

Report Says Russia Likely To Purchase Fifty From Canada

VANCOUVER.—Shipping circles in Vancouver reported that Russia is seeking to purchase an undisclosed number of merchant vessels of the Dominion government's park line now under charter to Britain and it is possible 50 may be sold to the Soviet next year.

These sources said that 126 of the wartime park fleet of 176 vessels already have been disposed of but the other 50 will not be available to prospective new owners because of present charters.

The Soviet was reported also seeking to buy 96 American ships and was said to have opened unofficial negotiations for part of the Japanese fishing fleet in an effort to build a strong merchant marine.

WINTER TRAFFIC

Alaska Highway Now In Perfect Condition Will Be Kept Open

NEW YORK.—The Alaska highway, now open to restricted civilian traffic, will be kept open all winter by the Royal Canadian Engineers, Hamilton Wright, Jr., who directed a recent Dominion photographic expedition over the highway, said here.

Wright said the highway now is in "perfect" condition, with the Canadian army keeping 18 maintenance camps about 90 miles apart along the route.

NEW INSTRUMENT

Based On Radar In Giving Good Results In B.C. Mineral Fields

VANCOUVER.—Radar may find an important peacetime use in the mineral fields of British Columbia.

The B.C. chamber of mines reported that local prospectors were experimenting with an instrument "based on radar" with which it is hoped to locate valuable ore bodies. Preliminary tests are said to have provided "good results."

Details of the instrument were not known.

FLYING TOO LOW

Plane Which Crashed Into School In Holland Killed Eight Boys

APELDOORN, Holland.—A military plane flown low over the home of the pilot's mother crashed into the roof of a nearby school, killing the pilot and eight school boys and seriously injuring at least 10 others.

The flier's mother, a witness, died of a heart attack.

The plane was a single-seater Firefly. It struck a school hall in which about 25 boys were doing gymnastics.

MEMORIAL TO GURKHAS

MANDALAY, Burma.—In memory of the men of the 44th Gurkha Rifles who lost their lives in the attack on Mandalay Hill during the war, the Holy Hermit of Mandalay Hill, Rev. U. Khanti, is placing a memorial tablet, in a pagoda on the summit of the hill, which is the centre of the Buddhist faith in Burma.

HALIFAX.—The Canadian army water transport vessel General Drury cleared from here with four box-cars loads of ammunition to be dumped at sea. Army authorities said the ammunition, declared obsolete, was collected from ammunition dumps across Canada and brought here for disposal.

Royal Mint Is Busy Producing Service Medals

OTTAWA.—Making medals has become big business since the war ended with something like 3,000,000 slated for eventual distribution to members of the Canadian forces.

At the moment the royal mint is producing Canadian Volunteer Service medals at the rate of 2,000 a day but that will be increased as more machine tools and presses become available. Until there is a stock of medals on hand the services are not receiving applications for the decorations.

Present plans are to strike more than 1,000,000 war medals which will go to all members of the forces, about 1,000,000 Canadian Volunteer Service medals and about the same number of a variety of other decorations.

The R.C.A.F. has undertaken supervision of the medal production for the three services and it is a job which runs into a lot of material as well as labor. The volunteer medals, for example, will use 166,000 yards of ribbon and 25 miles of silver wire for the suspension units.

On one side of the C.V.S.M. is the Canadian coat of arms; on the other a sailor, a soldier, a pilot, members of the C.W.A.C., W.R.C.N.S., and R.C.A.F. women's division and a nursing sister in marching order.

Estimates are that apart from the C.V.S.M. and the War Medal there will be 745,000 decorations to go to the army; 164,000 to the R.C.A.F., 84,450 to the navy and 6,000 to the merchant navy. These will be made up of: 1938-45 Star, 287,500; Atlantic Star, 40,000; Aircrew Europe Star, 12,000; France and Germany Star, 185,000; Italy Star, 107,000; Africa Star, 12,000; Burma Star, 5,200; Pacific Star, 8,250, and Defence Medal 342,000.

NO CHANGE SEEN

Canadians Cannot Expect More Or Better Bacon For Some Months

OTTAWA.—Agriculture department sources said there was little prospect, for some months at least, of improvement in the quantity and quality of bacon being sold for home consumption.

They pointed out that Canada, because of her declining hog production, was having trouble meeting her contract to supply Britain with 350,000,000 pounds of bacon this year and likely would experience similar difficulty in 1947.

NOT ENCOURAGING

Greater Shortage In Cotton Garments Seen By Prices Board

OTTAWA.—Canada's supply prospects in cotton textiles—thin means shirts, shorts and pyjamas—are less favorable now than they were in the first half of 1946 and indications are that they will get worse before they get better.

That's the picture as the prices board, which has the task of coping with shortages, sees it and it means that there probably will be a growing shortage in cotton garments.

The board traces this situation to lower United States allocations of cotton textile and industrial disputes which have reduced the output of Canadian textile plants.

While the immediate outlook is discouraging the board has a happy note for the future. It says the global textile picture gives "every indication of an improvement which will take effect early in 1947" and expresses the hope imports of cotton from Britain "may be somewhat" better by that time.

Colonel Crawford To Testify Against Japanese For Crimes In Hong Kong

OTTAWA.—Lt.-Col. J. N. B. Crawford, 40, of Winnipeg and Ottawa, is on his way to Hong Kong for a second time but this time he knows just what awaits him. He will testify against the Japanese who perpetrated cruelties upon Canadians and other Allied prisoners of war after the fall of Hong Kong in December, 1941.

Senior medical officer with the Canadian force that was wiped out in that brief battle, he was a prisoner of the Japanese until the end of the war. From his experiences, he will testify in war crimes trials due late this month in the Chinese city.

Progress Now Being Made In Housing Scheme

OTTAWA.—Canada's housing construction target of 60,000 units in the year 1946-47 is within range but will fall short of urgent needs, it was disclosed in a reconstruction department survey of housing manpower and material requirements.

The survey includes an estimate of an immediate deficit of 180,000 units in the spring of 1947 and reports that while building costs have risen between 47 and 62 per cent. from 1939 to 1945, and further since, there is little likelihood of an early reduction.

"The present inquiry brings out the fact that a housing target of 60,000 units during 1946-47 is well within the productive capacity of this country," Reconstruction Minister Howse said in an introduction to the report.

"In the years to come even larger housing programs should be within our reach. The success of a housing program in the transition period depends in the main on the co-ordinated effort of management and labor in the construction industry and the industries that supply needed building materials."

The target of 60,000 units compared with an estimated 48,000 homes constructed in 1945 and an average of 32,000 in urban centres in the years 1924-39.

The department attributed higher costs to increases in the price of building material and in wages and to lowered efficiency in the house building industry as a result of the shortage of skilled workers.

"Not until efficiency in building operations increases over present levels can any substantial reduction of war-inflated building costs be expected. But part of such decline might be offset in the immediate future by a further rise in prices of building materials and wage rates paid to construction workers."

Help Shortage Causes Delay In Health Plan

OTTAWA.—Canada has planned a new health deal for Indians and Eskimos, but like nearly everything else the scheme is being retarded by shortage of help and building materials.

Doctors and nurses with a yearning for the wide-open spaces and a bit of adventure to boot may answer the call of the north and help to man hospitals and serve on reserves.

This is the word from Dr. P. E. Moore, superintendent of Indian health services, who reviewed in an interview the prospects of better health services for Canada's 127,000 Indians and 7,700 Eskimos.

Dr. Moore said that "though neither law nor treaty obligated the government," Canada had increased expenditures for maintenance of such health services from $3,901 in 1879 to $4,103,390 for the fiscal year 1946-47.

But despite the increased appropriation the government's hospital expansion program was at a standstill for lack of trained personnel. A "limited response" had been received to advertisements seeking 100 nurses. More than 70 still were needed, as well as a few hardy characters to serve on northern reserves.

Though the health service frequently flew badly injured Indians and Eskimos from the hinterland to receive special treatment in southern zones, it did not operate an air ambulance—only Saskatchewan's health department had this service. Instead it utilized commercial and R.C.A.F. airplanes for individual "mercy flights".

The Indian branch kept tab on the health of 31,000 Indians and Eskimos scattered through the Northwest Territories and eastern Arctic by dispatching doctors to pull teeth, administer diphtheria toxoids, whooping cough vaccine and generally assist the seven doctors who normally cared for their needs.

For the last 20 years the "R.M.S. Nascope" chartered by the Hudson Bay Company made annual trips to the eastern Arctic carrying medical supplies and personnel. This year the medical party was augmented by an X-ray machine and technician. By examining 1,500 natives they expected to give the health department a picture of the present tuberculosis situation.

PRINCE ALBERT.—All previous records were shattered by 1946 season's entries into Prince Albert National Park, Bert Knight, superintendent, reported. From May 1 to Sept. 30, 31,474 persons visited the park. In the corresponding period last year the total was 18,585.

CONFUSION IN FIGURES

The Rt. Hon. Mr. Gardiner, Canadian Minister of Agriculture, addressing the Winnipeg branch of the Canadian Club on Wednesday, Oct. 2nd is reported in the Winnipeg Tribune to have said that this year, Canada has supplied Britain with 100 million bushels of wheat due to a loan under Canada's Wheat Agreement, that Canada would still have left approximately 224 million bushels for sale to the world, and that it could not force any other country in which more than 20 million bushels could be sold and paid for.

The depression left on the minds of those who listened to Mr. Gardiner seemed to be that at the end of this coming crop year Canada would have a large amount of unsold wheat for which our Wheat Board would be unable to find a market. On the same day, October 2nd, in the Winnipeg Free Press there appeared an article by Mr. Chester Bloom of Ottawa, who stated that according to approximate figures presented here in Ottawa by expert economists, Canada's net wheat position when all export commitments, domestic consumption and carry over requirements are made, would not leave more than 50 million bushels of wheat for distribution to other countries.

It will be noted there is considerable difference between the figures given by the Hon. Mr. Gardiner and those offered by Mr. Bloom. One can only wonder which estimate is correct.

CANADA BONDS GO ON SALE

Advance enquiries at branches of chartered banks, investment dealers and brokerage houses about purchases of Canada Savings Bonds first offered for sale on October 15 indicate a solid desire by Canadians to continue wartime Victory Loan and War Savings Stamps saving habits. Canada Savings Bonds national headquarters reported today.

Sales of war savings stamps and certificates have been terminated and final instalments ninth Victory Loan purchases will have been completed by the end of the month. The Canada Savings Bonds, which bear 2 1/2 per cent interest and can be cashed at any time at face value, offer a means of continuing the savings habit.

Just returned from the Food and Agriculture Organization conference in Copenhagen, H.H. Hammann, president and managing director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, has written in a letter to Canada Canada Savings Bonds addressed to Graham P. Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada:

"During the war the Canadian people came to have great confidence in this type of investment, because of the security of security. Generally speaking they will welcome the government's decision to continue to offer this form of security, one in which the ordinary citizen can readily participate."

"Atent are of the new offering," said Mr. Hammann, "which will commend itself to farmers is the fact that the savings bond will be readily converted into cash at 100 percent of its value plus interest. Farmers who are in a position to put by a portion of their earnings each year should find the new bonds a very attractive form of investment for these savings."

It was pointed out at headquarters here that since there are fewer sales men than in Victory Loan campaigns the initiative for the purchase of Canada Savings Bonds rests with the individual Canadians. Facilities of chartered banks, investment and brokerage houses have been made available for bond purchases.

Crop Improvement Associations

The Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta Crop Improvement Associations were organized to serve as provincial marketing agencies for the growers of Registered and Certified seed. In each province they are sponsored and directed by officials of seed growers' organizations, universities, Dominion and Provincial governments, and grain companies.

Object. The main object of these Associations is to facilitate the wider use of Registered and Certified seed of farm crops. This is accomplished by: (1) Establishing a fair and reasonable price to the grower and purchaser. (2) Enlisting the services of country elevator agents as salesmen. (3) Creating a wider demand for good seed. (4) Locating and maintaining adequate seed stocks to meet the demand. (5) Developing, if necessary, an export market for the disposal of surplus stocks.

Operation. Crop Improvement Associations operate in a simple and direct manner. They buy and own no seed but simply serve as a medium through which seed is moved from the seed grower to farmer through the elevator agent. All the farmer has to do is to place his order for Registered or Certified seed with his local elevator agent who forwards it to his Head Office, or to the Secretary of the provincial Association. The order is then directed to the seed grower who ships the seed to the elevator agent for delivery to the farmer. This service is provided by elevator companies and provincial Departments of Agriculture at their own expense.

Line Elevator agents in all three provinces are fully authorized distributors of Registered and Certified seed for provincial crop improvement associations. It is anticipated that the demand for Registered and Certified stocks of cereal seeds, particularly of some of the newer varieties, will be heavy this year. Consequently, Line Elevator agents can render a valuable service to their farmer customers by encouraging them to place their orders as soon as possible. Order Registered and Certified seed now.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

THE CURE

— By —
BASCOM H. BIGGERS III

Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

SOME of the folks at Gloversville were certain that a miracle had happened to Miss Sadie. Others claimed that she had taken some wonderful medicine. Still others thought the old man that stayed only one night at her house was a famous doctor travelling in disguise.

Every one had his own private opinion about what cured Miss Sadie and got her out of the bed in which she had spent most of her time for the past three years. But none of them guessed the truth.

When Miss Sadie—her real name was Mrs. Horace Manners—lost her husband and two children in the automobile wreck she lost all her faith and desire to live. Though most people didn't know it her illness was largely mental. She didn't want to get well.

"There's nothing left for me," she'd said. "When Horace and the children were taken from me life lost its meaning. I didn't care to live, though I must until I die."

And the bitterness of her mind seemed to overtake her body leaving her no strength. She made no effort to rebuild her life, to regain her strength. A hired man who lived on the place and cooked for her kept up the little portion of the farm that she retained, but she took no interest in it.

Her old friends who stopped coming to see her could not be blamed. It was obvious in her grief and loss of faith that she did not want them. The only people who ever came to see her were the curious ones who carried away strange tales about how she kept to her bed, spoke crossly and glared at them like they were demons.

Slowly people began to suspect she was going crazy.

Then one day when the hired man had gone to town and she was all alone, there appeared at her door an old man. He was dressed in tattered clothes and he had not shaved for many days. His knock on the door was feeble and had she been sleeping she would not have heard it.

The window by her bed opened on to the front porch and she could see him there knocking. She was not frightened, because he was old and feeble looking. But she was irritated that he should disturb her.

"What is it?" she asked crossly through the half open window.

"I am hungry," said the old man, "and very tired. If you will only give me a little food and let me rest—"

She felt angrier than before. A beggar at her doorstep disturbing her by asking for food instead of work.

"Go on away from here," she said, waving him off with her hand. "Go on! Get off my porch and property!"

There was a pitiful look in the old man's eyes as though the world had disowned him. As he turned to leave he opened his thin grey lips then seemed to decide against it.

He walked slowly back across the porch and as he reached the steps he suddenly collapsed and rolled down them to the walk.

Inside the house Miss Sadie saw the little old man as he fell to the ground and her heart rose in her throat. For the first time she forgot her own loneliness and bitterness. A new strength seemed to rise in her. For only a minute she hesitated. Then she grabbed her robe, slipped quickly into her shoes and started for the door. Her movements were slow at first but as she thought of the little old man she forgot her weakness and moved rapidly to the yard.

He was unconscious when she reached him and breathing heavily. She lifted his small head from the hard walk and compassion willed her heart. She had done this to him by ordering him away.

She lifted his body in her arms. Even though he was frail, she was weak and stumbled as she went towards the house with him.

"Poor little old man," she repeated over and over.

His only answer was heavy breathing as though he were having difficulty getting his breath.

Later when she had undressed him and put his withered body between clean white sheets, she hurried to the kitchen to prepare some chicken broth. It was the first time in three years that she had fixed food and she found pleasure in it. When she returned with a bowl of the steaming beverage he had regained consciousness. She smiled at him and moved swiftly to his side.

"There now," she said, "you're going to be all right. You must not have eaten in a long while. This broth will fix you up."

"No," he said in a small voice. "No I haven't eaten in a long time. I did not want to beg but—" His voice faded away as he tried to sit up and she saw it was too much for him.

"No more talking," she said. "And I'm going to feed you personally." For the rest of the day she nursed the old man finding comfort in having some one to tend to. But when night fell she knew he was sicker than she had thought. She knew he would not live. His heart was weak with age.

All night she sat up with him talking so that he would not feel alone. She told him all about her youth and her husband and her children and it comforted him. And as she spoke she felt the burden of bitterness lift from her heart as it had not done in three years.

At dawn, just before the old man died he called her close and spoke in a whisper so low that she could scarcely hear him.

"I believe that you are the good Samaritan whom I have never before found," he said. "I know I am dying but I am doing so with renewed hope and happiness. May you make others as happy as you have made me, my angel of mercy."

Then he died with her holding his hand and the sadness she felt was mingled with a happiness of renewed hope and faith.

Miss Sadie was well.

JUST AS GOOD

An old woman married a man even older than herself. One day she met the rector, who inquired why she had married again, and if she had now given up her occupation of washing. "Oh, no sir," she said, pointing to her husband, who was wheeling a barrow a few paces away. "If I hadn't married 'e, I'd 'ad to 'ave bought a donkey."

Exports Increasing

High Quality Of English Grown Orchids Is Creating Large Market

The first English orchids to be purchased by Australia since the war were despatched from the Port of London recently. United Kingdom growers are rapidly becoming the leading exporters of orchids in the world. At present they are being inundated with a steady flow of overseas orders, especially from the U.S. One spectacular order, placed by U.S.A. businessmen earlier this year, was for 2,000 plants valued at £20,000. The steady increase in exports of English orchids is attributed by growers to the high quality and hardness of home-grown varieties. A consignment of orchids often takes years to collect as the time taken to grow a successful blooming hybrid is considerable.

Hard To Understand

Why People Take Such Desperate Chances To Save Few Seconds

Time being what it is, and man's span of the approximate measure of 70 years, what is the urge which forces some people to press on the seconds at the "rush" hours of a city's traffic? Why is one second between five p.m. and six p.m. of any greater importance than the same measure of human time at any other hour of the day? Yet, the scramble to save that second in the rush hour gives this community — and every other one of comparative size in Canada — its main crop of accidents, near-accidents, fits, starts and bad turns. —Victoria Colonist.

THEY KNOW CANADA

Our Governors General Always Get Well Acquainted With This Dominion

High on the list of those who have a deep affection for Canada are a group of men, past and present, who have been merely temporary residents in this Dominion. These are our Governors General. Most of them, after a short time here, have become the most enthusiastic boosters for this country.

The reason, of course, is obvious. The Governors General see and know Canada. It is part of their job to travel across the Dominion, not once but several times during their terms of office. Their appreciation of our many advantages rests on intelligent familiarity with them.

Not everyone, of course, can see so much of the country, but too many of our citizens neglect opportunities to familiarize themselves even with the parts they could easily visit. Others, with the means to travel quite as extensively as the Governors General, prefer to spend their time and money in other climes. It is too bad that more of our people are not put under an obligation similar to that imposed on the Viceroys to get about in their native land.—Windsor Star.

BRUNSWICK STEW

4 to 5-pound fowl, cut in pieces
4 tablespoons butter or chicken fat
1/2 cup chopped onions
2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes
1 cup water

3 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Dash of cayenne

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 cups fresh lima beans
2 cups corn, cut from cob
2 tablespoons flour

1/2 cup cold water

Brown fowl in fat in heavy kettle. Remove chicken, add onions, and cook until delicately browned.

Add chicken, tomatoes, water, salt, pepper, and cayenne. Cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours, or until chicken is nearly tender.

Add Worcestershire sauce and lima beans and continue cooking 25 minutes. Add corn. Blend flour with 1/2 cup cold water. Add to stew, stirring vigorously until thickened. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Farm Wages Higher

Dominion Bureau Of Statistics Gives Average Rates

OTTAWA.—New increases in average farm wage rates were reported by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The average rates for Canada in August were $4.04 a day and $75.28 a month with board as compared with rates of $3.55 a day and $71.68 a month reported at Aug. 15, 1945. Without board, the average rates were $4.95 a day and $100.62 a month as against $4.50 and $97.22, respectively, last year.

For day help, there were increases in all provinces except Nova Scotia, the most pronounced increases being in the western provinces. Saskatchewan had the highest rate of all provinces for help without board at $5.69, followed by Manitoba at $5.66, British Columbia at $5.26, and Alberta at $5.17.

Rates in the eastern provinces ranged down from $4.55 in Ontario to $3.38 in Prince Edward Island. Highest rates for help with board were $4.71 in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, followed by $4.42 in British Columbia, $4.37 in Alberta, $3.62 in Ontario, $3.56 in New Brunswick, $3.46 in Quebec, $3.24 in Nova Scotia and $2.62 in Prince Edward Island.

Wage rates per month by provinces ranged from a high of $82.99 to a low of $55.76 for help with board, and from $111.12 to $77.96 for help without board in Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island.

The Untouchables

Are Not Allowed To Associate With Even Low Caste Hindus

In India, according to an ancient legend, Hindus are descended from Brahma, the creator. The Brahmins or highest caste rose from his mouth, the Kshatriyas from his shoulders, the Vaisyas from his thighs, and the Sudras or lowest caste from his feet. The legend omits the fifth group of Hindus, India's 70,000,000 Untouchables. These are descended from the Dravidians who inhabited southern India and became converted to Hinduism. Because the new converts were of a different darker-skinned race they were regarded as an inferior people with whom Hindus were forbidden to mingle. Today, in most sections of India, Untouchables are not permitted to enter schools or temples, they can work at only the most menial of jobs.

Recently a bill to abolish some of the social indignities was introduced into the Bombay Province Legislature. It would penalize anyone who prevented Untouchables from using public roads, conveyances or public institutions.

An income tax was imposed in Great Britain in 1799 to finance the war against Napoleon.

"Scout News"

R.C. Stevenson, Chairman of the Dominion Executive Board of the Boy Scouts Association has been awarded the O.B.E. in recognition of services to the Sea Cadet Movement.

"The Scout," official magazine of the Boy Scouts of Great Britain recently published its 2,000' edition.
"The Scout" was founded by Lord
Baden-Powell, founder of the scout movement, the first issue coming out with the start of the movement on April 16th, 1908. The Magazine is edited by F. Haydn Blumcock, who came up through scouting. As a patrol leader, in 1913, he won first place with his troop magazine, of which he was the editor.

BONDS

These are "Serve Yourself" Bonds. There will be fewer salesmen this time and they won't be able to call on everyone—it is up to you to make sure you buy. You can buy them through any bank, authorized investment dealer, stock broker, trust or loan company—for cash or by the monthly savings plan. Where your employer offers a payroll savings plan you can buy your bonds by regular deductions from your pay.
